Grenada county lacks only a relatively small percent of meeting its 3rd War Bond drive, but the "crepus" has been skinned off, leaving the little buyers to finish the quota.

At this writing, Mr. L. C. Howard lies at the point of death at Grenada Hospital as a result of what is said to be a self-inflicted wound. His friends are hoping against hope that he will survive.

There are still a good many people who favor us with news and propaganda about their own pet schemes, but who forget us when the time comes to place orders for commercial printing. Most of them do this thru failure to realize that country newspapers would have to close up shop if they depended entirely upon revenue from advertising; or, as an alternative, lower standards.

Well, Charlie Worsham at last took my advice by buying himself a marriage license, and he got a mighty fine gal to boot.

The U. S. Navy announces the opening of a full time Navy Recruiting Station in Grenada effective today. The new recruiting station is located on the second floor of the Grenada postoffice, and Robert L. Kennon, a Chief Quartermaster of the U. S. Navy in Recruiter-in-Charge. Any one interested in enlisting in the Navy is urged to contact Chief Kennon. His office hours are from 8:30 to 5:00 p.m. all day except Sunday.

A Legion member asked us to ask the merchants, who have not already taken in the flags, to do so at once, as some of the flags have been out a week.

"Shorty" at the Tri State Cafe told a good Jew joke: she said, if she was ever born again, she wanted to be half Jew and half poor folks, because poor folks were always happy with a dollar, and a Jew always had one.

His many friends will be happy to know that Whyte, Jr., will probably Details concerning the financing of states' rights will be dead as a doornail, be out of the Station Hospital, in stay at home and regain his strength.

We are happy to learn that "Miss" Effie Staten is getting along better.

Back the Attack with bonds.

There is going to be such a great rush for Christmas cards this year that we advise that you place your order EARLY. Place the order with us NOW. If we know you, you can place your order now and, if you want to, pay for them when you get them. The same thing applies to personal stationery for soldiers. The GOW is running short-handed. If we have a big bunch of such orders we can turn them out at some time, when, or if other business is slack, and store them away; and, by bunching them, can save an immense amount of precious time. The OPA ordered either a 60 or a 40 percent reduction in the number of Christmas cards to be made this year and, therefore, you can visualize the mad scramble for them immediately before Christmas. Fortunately, we bought a substantial number of boxes of two varieties in June.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Martin are spending several weeks in Hot Springs.

The Ferdinand Club missed a meeting last week.

FOR SALE: a cot. I used to take a nap every day in the cot. The cot has been hibernating since Harry Greenfield left, as I have had to go to work.

LOST: The OPA. Nobody seems to know where price control has gone.

After a long campaign, we have persuaded the City Council to "consider" the acquisition of additional fire fighting equipment anyway.

Bloodworth Mason has moved back to Magee.

Sympathizing with Me and Mike is a wasteful procedure. We are used to it. I'd rather be with him in defeat than otherwise.

Aint they sweet.

The Third Loan Drive came at an inauspicious time—when income taxes were being paid.

Wonder how Preacher Sellers is getting along?

I forgot to mention at the time about Brother J. M. Pearce, who is getting pretty feeble after about 90 years, coming in to see me recently.

Lads Performing Jobs Considered Impossible

They're rough, they're ready, they're able, these airborne aviation engineers. Transplanted from fields, factories and a multitude of good "ole American scenes," these lads are now performing jobs considered impossible by the enemy with the apparent ease of every day chores.

The Air Borne Engineers Aviation Battalion, recent arrivals at the Grenada Army Air Base, is typical of this group of men, who "put 'em up where they've knocked them down." I watched this group, led by Major R. E. Smotherman, as they set about making a home out of what was before just another field.

They are used to moving about and therefore used to setting up housekeeping in new surroundings. The advance units of the Airborne Engineers, now overseas, are setting an example for these lads, and they are making it a point to pick up as much experience as possible before crossing the pond.

The Grenada Army Air Field, at the cross roads of North Mississippi, is now their new home. For how long, only the high command and the Alouette knows, but as far as the Engineers are concerned, they are putting up a "tent city" which would do justice to any plans for a long visit.

Major Smotherman, who strikes one as rather young, but a perfect symbol of how America is placing their military might in the hands of the young, more alert leaders, said "Here" and within the short space of hours, over a hundred tents, the headquarters section, and the base necessities of a field camp were set up.

"I don't see anything particularly remarkable about that," remarked a lieutenant, "they've done it before and are accustomed to a quick job. We set no time limit, because the men will put it up as fast as they can."

Still, one was sensitive of activity more vividly in the new "tent city" than in any other similar occurrence. These boys worked fast, hard and earnestly. They could just have well have been near the front lines of Sicily or New Guinea or Italy—they appear so serious in the duty.

One group was busily cleaning and adjusting their AA machine guns, as if preparing for an anticipated air attack by the enemy. Poles were being erected for street lights and telephone wiring. Repair shops stood ready for any mechanical breakdown by machines varying from trucks to tractors.

The Troop Carrier command is proud to have this organization affiliated with them—a group that can construct roads, lay out runways, build bridges and perform practically an engineering task thought of, with a few others thrown in for good measure.

These boys look rough, work hard, are a good bunch; these Airborne Engineers.

City Council Had Usual Business Monday Night

(By Dorothy Whitaker)
Jack Sanderson, assistant cashier of Grenada Bank, was unanimously elected to the City School Board Monday night at a meeting of the board of aldermen and mayor. He succeeds Giles Patten, who moved to Meridian.

A petition asking that the Fair Ground Road be graveled was approved by the aldermen. The City will pay for the graveled.

John Rundle, Superintendent of City Schools, discussed the school budget with the board, pointing out the pending federal aid to the negro school. Although many children are still picking cotton, there are 130 negro children in the first grade about a hundred more children than there were last year this time. The other problem is the loss of several teachers, Mr. Rundle said.

Mr. Collins, who operates Collins' Cafe on Commerce Street appeared before the board with a complaint against Blue Moon (negro) Cafe, pointing out that it constituted a menace. Corley Horton, city attorney pointed out that the proper first step would be to file a petition.

The possibility of the City's buying an auxiliary fire engine was mentioned, but no action taken.

A petition to name the street between I. C. Railroad and South Street was dismissed because one member of the board said it was already called Newsome's Alley.

The board ordered the publication of a petition concerning the changing of the City Charter—a copy of which appears elsewhere.

Oliver-Lilly Gives Red Cross $100.00

On Thursday last we experienced disappointment when we were told that the planes from Grenada Air Base taking part in Grenada County's opening ceremony of the Third War Loan campaign, would not drop our advertising leaflets. Four of these leaflets were to be especially marked, denoting that the "finder present" the "marked leaflets to Oliver-Lilly Motor Company and receive a $25.00 bond for each one so marked. This was forbidden, but the $100.00 in bonds will serve a great purpose just the same for the management of Oliver-Lilly Motor Company presented the check for $100.00 to Grenada Chapter of Red Cross. The gift is highly prized by everyone, and the Red Cross Chapter is most appreciative.

Walter S. Perry Graduates at Long Island

Walter S. Perry, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Perry, Route 1, Grenada, Miss., graduated this week from a course in the overhaul of aircraft engines conducted by the Army Air Forces Training Command at Stewart Technical School Lynbrook, Long Island, N. Y.

Perry, who graduated from an airplane mechanic school in the AAF Training Command before undertaking the advanced course, was promoted to private first class in recognition of his aptitude for specialized work. Only men who receive marks well above average in general aptitude and mechanical aptitude tests are selected for technical training.

If he proves physically qualified, he will soon receive training as an aerial gunner. Armed with the skill necessary to maintain and repair aircraft engines, he will thus become a dual specialist in the combat crew of an Army Air Forces unit.

A Grenada High School graduate, Perry was a student prior to his graduation.

Food Locker Plant Waits On WPB

(By Dorothy Whitaker)

It approved by the War Production Board in Washington, Grenada may soon have a frozen food locker plant, Ralph Semmes said yesterday. The proposed plant will contain 312 lockers of approximately seven cubic feet.

Ralph Semmes, J. L. Cooley, Jr., and Knox Pierce have contacted 17 citizens already who have pledged $15.00 per year for the use of lockers.

These men consulted with a representative of W. F. Slater Engineering Company, of Memphis, concerning the details of the plant. Because of shortage of materials and curtailment of war-time construction, the plant will be set up in an already existing building, Semmes said.

Details concerning the financing of the project, the location of it have not been determined yet.

Grey Ladies Organize

Because of the Third War Loan Drive the organization meeting of the Grey Ladies with personnel and chairman, will be published next week. Applications must be signed and returned at once to Mrs. Jennie Lewis at the Red Cross office.

There is not a Chinaman's chance of Horn getting into any devilment this week end.

As the nation's 15-Billion Dollar Third War Loan enters its second week Mr. C. H. Calhoun, War Finance Director of Grenada county, in a statement released today, stressed the fact that its success depends upon every man and woman in the United States "Backing the Attack" of our fighting men to the limit of their financial ability.

Expressing confidence that Grenada county citizens would answer the Third War Loan challenge by purchasing their full $650,000 quota by September 25th, Mr. Calhoun said, "The Treasury's plan to borrow 15 billion dollars in the Third War Loan was made in order to meet the rapidly mounting costs of war expenditures brought about by invasion. The war is now costing us 200 million dollars a day, or more than 10 million dollars an hour. The nation's budget calls for an expenditure of over 100 billion dollars in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1943, the largest annual budget of any nation in the world's history."

"Where will this money come from? The answer is simple. It will be available in the approximate 24 billion dollars of savings of individuals who will be earning 74 billion dollars during the last half of this year. The Treasury must have the greater portion of these savings because it is necessary to get this money either through War Bond sales or taxes, not only to finance the war, but to protect ourselves against the home front enemy, inflation."

"As our fighting men march forward in Italy against the Germans and as they score new victories against Japs in the far Pacific, we here at home must 'Back their Attack' with our very last dollar. That means the Third War Loan will be another war job accomplished successfully by determined American men and women."

"Don't delay your purchase another day. Figure the maximum amount you can invest. That should be every dollar over your taxes, life insurance, mortgage, obligations, doctor and hospital bills and the necessities of life. When you have determined what you can do, do it now!"

Electric Users Asked to Conserve

MP&L and WPB Join In Wartime Request

Mississippi Power & Light Company has joined with seven of the country's largest industries in a nation-wide fuel conservation program to prevent waste and save manpower, transportation, and fuel. These industries are electric, telephone, gas, oil, water, transportation and coal.

The War Production Board has proclaimed that maximum war production requires the greatest possible conservation of man-power, transportation, fuel, equipment and critical materials such as copper, tungsten and steel. It believes that this greater conservation can be accomplished by the cooperation of all citizens of the nation in a Voluntary Conservation Program beginning September 15th. It has called upon all allied industries to institute such a program so as to effect savings on all home fronts.

In a letter addressed "To Electric Utilities and Their Customers," J. A. Krug, Director, Office of War Utilities, WPB, said: "In the electric industry, the installed generating capacity, together with capacity now under construction, is ample to meet all foreseeable electric needs. But, it is essential to save the use of electricity wherever possible so as to reduce directly and indirectly, the demands for materials, fuel, transportation and manpower."

Mississippi Power & Light Company in cooperation with the WPB is therefore asking all its customers to "save the use of electricity wherever possible." MP&L officials, in discussing this plan, stated that "any reduction our customers can safely make in their use of electric service will, when multiplied by thousands of other Americans, make an important contribution to the Voluntary Conservation Program."

A list showing what the user of electric service can do to help was released as follows:

Continue using electricity for: lighting essential to public health, eyesight conservation, safety, plant protection, transportation, war production, military purposes, aviation lighting, police protection, essential home uses, and all other essential needs.

Where to conserve electricity: indoor and outdoor advertising, promotional and display lighting, decorative and ornamental lighting, decorative flood lighting, show window lighting, lighting of marquees, lighting of outdoor business establishments, non-essential interior and show case lighting, non-essential use of lights and appliances, moderation of air-conditioning, and the careful use of all lights and appliances to avoid any wasted use of electricity.

The following resolution was introduced, its adoption moved and seconded and put to a vote. Aldermen Boone, Abner, Horn, Lilly, Burt and Deaton voting for its passage and there being no vote against, same it was declared duly adopted and ordered entered on the Minutes as follows:

A resolution declaring the intention of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Grenada, Mississippi to issue bonds of said City to the amount of not exceeding $25,000.00 for the purpose of extending the water and sewer system, pipes, lines, etc. of said City as the Board may determine, etc.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating, over-exhaustion, the risk of exposure and infection, causes heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter waste and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer from nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all over sore. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful waste body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by practical waste excretors. Ask your neighbor!

Battlefront of Sacrifice Is Urged Upon U. S. Women to Aid 3rd War Loan Drive

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The women of America are going all-out to make a success of the Third War Loan Drive—to "Back the Attack" to the limit. For weeks they have been organizing to do their share toward raising the Treasury's unprecedented goal of 15 billion dollars in War Bond sales to non-banking investors.

In order to lay the groundwork for this intensive organization far enough in advance of the drive, Miss Harriet Elliott, Associate Field Director of the War Finance Division, in charge of women's activities, made a swing around the country during July. Regional conferences were held in Atlanta, Dallas, San Francisco, Denver, Cleveland and Boston.

"Women have been called to the battlefront of sacrifice at a time when their brains, energies and money are most needed," says Miss Elliott. "Buy Bonds—by sacrifice, is the order of the day. If every woman in America would pledge herself to do without everything she possibly can, and carry out that pledge faithfully, she would make a genuine contribution to victory."

All groups of women are active in the drive. Many cities and counties are conducting door-knocker canvasses and carrying out other promotional campaigns to see that every individual in these United States is reached to buy an extra $100 bond in September. "It takes bench-to-bench, desk-to-desk, house-to-house, person-to-person contact to put over the job," Miss Elliott believes.

United in this tremendous effort are women belonging to foreign origin groups of every nationality, Negro women, college girls, farm women, war workers, club women—professional, religious, industrial, cultural, educational, patriotic and social groups—in fact, women of every age, from every walk of life.

THE OTHER FELLOW!

★ The War Production Board has asked our help and your cooperation in a voluntary, nation-wide program to secure the greatest possible conservation of man-power, transportation, fuel and critical material. Any reduction you can safely make in your use of Electric Service will reduce the amount of fuel burned to make it. That will mean fewer freight cars to haul the fuel and fewer man-hours to handle it. More cars and more men will thus become available for the war effort. Every little bit of electricity you save, multiplied by thousands of other Americans, will be an important contribution to this Voluntary Conservation Program.

WORSHAM-BRIDGES WEDDING SOLEMNIZED SUNDAY

Hon. W. A. Winter announces the marriage of his cousin, Miss Allie Bridges, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bridges to Mr. Charlie Worsham, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Worsham, of Grenada. The vows were said in an early morning ceremony Sunday, September 12, at 9 o'clock in the Hamilton Memorial Room of the First Presbyterian Church, the Pastor, Rev. C. A. Pharr, officiated, using one single ring ceremony. Only relatives were included as wedding guests. Lozely gladiolus in radiant autumn colors filled two floor baskets, and formed the improvised altar before which the bridegroom stood. Miss Corlie Perry as bride's maid, was attired in a handsome autumn costume suit of brown with matching accessories and a corsage of tallman roses. Judge M. McKibben served as best man.

The ride was charming in a full ensemble of grey with braid trim which featured a miniature vestee of cerise and a lovely Catalpa orchid corsage of matching hue. Her accessories were of coco brown. She carried the same lace handkerchief carried by her mother at her wedding.

After graduating from Grenada schools the bride received her college education at Intermonite College, Bristol, Va. She taught one year, has been in active charge of the Bridges plantation, and four years ago was selected as Deputy Circuit Clerk by Mr. Worsham. She plans to continue her work at the Court House with her husband.

Mr. Worsham was re-elected Circuit Clerk, without opposition, at the polls in August. He is a gentleman of sterling worth and he and his charming bride have many friends throughout the county and state who will learn of their marriage with genuine interest. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Worsham left for an unannounced destination for a honeymoon. They will live at the Bridges home located northwest of Grenada.

EXTRA-MILEAGE RECAPPING

Two jobs of tire recapping may look alike and still be as different as black and white in performance. Reliable recapping takes time, skill, care.

That's the kind you get from us — reliable recapping, done the Goodyear way with Goodyear materials and by Goodyear factory methods.

But remember — you must not drive your old tire too long before having it recapped. It is too late when the tread is worn down into the fabric. The tire casing must be sound. If your old tire can be safely recapped, get Goodyear Extra-Mileage Recapping here for many more months of wear.

If your tire is too badly worn to allow recapping, you can apply for a replacement tire — a sound used tire, a recapped tire, a new War Tire, or a new pre-war tire — depending on your mileage classification. Whatever your tire needs, you can depend on getting the best you are entitled to here!

HAVE US INSPECT YOUR TIRES NOW

Your tires must be inspected to protect your right to drive. Don't put off getting this necessary inspection another day. Come in now.

It's our job to help you get maximum tire mileage. We'll watch over your tires — check air pressure regularly, "cross-switch" your tires when advisable, check brakes and wheels.

More Damfoolishness

The following from the Jackson Daily News' news columns in last Friday's issue, shows that a merchant who sells friction-top CANS and the farmer who buys them—for use in saving molasses group are both liable to go to the federal pen:

Mississippians who have packed cane syrup and sorghum in tin pails as long as anyone can remember, Friday were advised by the War Production Board's Jackson office that it is against the law to use any tin containers for packing syrup.

WPB order M-51 limits use of any kind of tin plate to certain packs, not including syrup. A. G. McIntosh, district WPB manager in Jackson, declared.

"Notwithstanding the provisions of this limitation order," Mr. McIntosh said, "rumors continue to reach this office that merchants are selling the containers for the purpose of packing cane syrup for sale and that certain farmers, or producers in our area are accepting delivery of cans for that purpose. In such cases both the merchant who sells and the person who accepts delivery of containers made of tin for purposes other than as outlined in Order M-51 are in violation of the Order; and guilty of a crime punishable by fine or imprisonment."

"We would dislike very much," said Mr. McIntosh, "to see the people served by the Jackson office embarrassed by a compliance investigation and the resulting suspension of activities."

We would grant that, if material was very scarce, it might be logical to forbid the manufacture of this type can, but what of Roy Doak (and thousands of other merchants) who has a stock of cans on hand? And what of the farmer—in a country facing a food crisis—who wishes to save his syrup. What else can these cans already in stock be used for?

This is just another example of the sapheadedness of the fools who are running this government into communism, if not, into internal revolution.

A Splendid Letter

This letter was written by the youngest grandson of the late Rev. H. G. Roberts, and was too late as it arrived a day after the death of the grandfather.

The writer of the letter is a nephew of Mrs. Sam Irby of Grenada. It contains many a lesson for younger people.

It was with great sorrow that I received a letter from Muddie saying you were seriously ill. Her letter was delayed so did not hear about it until a couple of days ago. I hope that by the time you receive this letter you are well or on the road to recovery.

It seems queer that I never have written you before, but before I got in the army I never wrote letters. I guess that is why. When I look back, it seems like only yesterday we lived on Alexander Street. I remember well how I waited in eagerness for you to come to see us. Maybe the reason was because you always gave Troy, Jr. and myself a nickel each. That meant a lot to us and made us happy. But now I see more the influence you had in making us happy. As a father you were quite successful because of your rearing of fine Christian women—one my mother. You instilled in them the finer things of life which they likewise instilled into us. Now I appreciate the way my parents brought me up although as a child I thought they were too strict. Since I am named after you and because of your fine characteristics I have tried to become in ways similar to you—mainly to become a fine Christian. I think I have been very successful in view of that point. Every Sunday I usually manage to get to church. There I find something different from what I find during the week. At Tyler they have a very nice and beautiful Methodist Church and a fine pastor. Several of us boys go there together each Sunday. This morning the sermon was on selfishness. It was very good and made me wonder and think more about it. It seems queer how some one word may change the whole life of a person as one being selfish would.

Before I came to the army I believe I told you I was ready to come. Now I see I was more ready than I thought I was, as a result the army life, which is different from civilian life, has not and I don't think will change me. Unfortunately some of the other fellows weren't ready and as a result have become degraded in mind and morals. It is shocking in some cases how some of them act, but it seems like all evils live with periods of war. I am afraid that it will be a long time after this war before we will have decency raised high.

Well, grand daddy, it seems I have little to say as usual. Hope you are getting along well. Maybe I can get home soon and be able to see all of you folks again.

Your ever-faithful and devoted grandson,
 Howard.

Doing A Fine Job

How they are doing it, I do not know, but the dairies of Grenada have done a fine job in keeping this community in milk and milk products, in spite of feed, difficulty of transportation, drafting of labor, and the immense increase in population of this area.

Yes, the dairymen have done a splendid job.

Soldiers Get One Break

The soldiers get one "break" around Grenada anyway, for we note that Coach Hathorn is letting the soldiers in to see the football game at the same price that the school children are charged.

Christmas Gifts

Those who wish to send Christmas presents to men overseas MUST mail them between now and October 15th. There is a five pound limit. Perishables cannot be sent.

Personal stationery for soldiers overseas and for those in domestic service, makes a fine gift, but all printers, more particularly in defense areas like Grenada, are mighty busy. It would therefore be appropriate to order early so that the printers can use the "gang printing" method in producing such stuff.

Christmas cards were unobtainable here in Grenada along toward Christmas last year. There has been either a 40 percent or a 60 percent cut in production on account of an OPA ruling. It would, therefore, be wise to order cards early. Printers cannot handle all of this business at the last minute.

If you are going to have some stationery printed, or some Christmas cards printed—we have a moderately large stock of each, due to purchasing in June—let us have your order NOW. Then, at some slack period, if one develops, we can print the stuff and hold it for you. Those whom we know to be responsible may pay upon delivery; those we do not know will be requested to pay one-half down. It's a cinch that we will be unable to do ALL of this kind of printing at the LAST minute. The GCW, like every other business, is working short-handed, and no relief is in sight.

A Subject for Investigation

Where there is a lot of smoke, there must be some fire to cause the smoke.

There is considerable talk about enlisted men being "busted" and otherwise punished for being drunk, and of officers getting drunk and receiving no punishment therefor. Frankly I can not name any specific instance, otherwise I would.

However the subject could be investigated by Congressman Abernethy or by the FBI at Mr. Abernethy's instance. It could easily be found out whether officers DO get drunk and, if so, what officers and when. The Summary Court records of the various units could be checked to see what non-commissioned officers had been "busted" for drunkenness, and what privates had been tried and put "under the gun" at hard labor—if any there be.

Assuming that officers DO get drunk and receive NO punishment, and that enlisted men ARE punished for the same offense, then the army has got into a hell of a shape. Officers SHOULD set examples in conduct for the men under their respective commands. They, that is the officers, should not follow the rule enunciated by the preacher, who was charged with some offense, "Do as I SAY; not as I DO." How can an enlisted man working "under the gun" in the hot broiling sun preserve his morale when he KNOWS that HIS own officers get by without punishment?

Anyway, the government is investigating everything else, and the government can spare investigators to investigate something that is very important to the morale of the troops.

With Apologies To King David

The politician is my shepherd. I shall not want for cold drinks during the campaign. He leadeth me into the drug store for my vote's sake; he filleth my pockets with good cigars, my glass of Coca-Cola runneth over. He prepareth my ticket before me in the presence of my better judgment. Yea, though I walk through the mud and rain to vote for him and shout myself hoarse, when he is elected straightway he forgetteth me. Lo when I meet him in his own office he knoweth me not. Surely the wool has been pulled over my eyes all the days of my life and I should kick myself forever.—Exchange.

Mail Service Abroad

I just read an article, "Army's Mail Service Laxity Hurts Morale of Men Abroad, Makes Home Folks Wonder," by John Steinbeck from Somewhere in North Africa.

No person, except a person like myself who has been overseas in service, can possibly know how very important letters and newspapers from home are to the lonely fellow in a foreign land.

What applies to the personal letter from sweetheart, wife, mother or dad, applies also, if to a lesser degree, to the old home town newspaper, even if the latter is only a four-page smutty sheet.

These letters and newspapers are extraordinary maintainers of morale, and the greatest possible effort to deliver them promptly should be made.

We SEND copies of the GCW to almost every corner of the globe. They SHOULD be delivered, but often are not.

Check Up On Strangers

According to reports reaching me, there have been a good many burglaries committed in private homes north of town.

It might be well for those renting houses, rooms or apartments to strangers to do a little checking-up on these strangers. It would be mighty easy for a stranger to explain his absence from home at night by saying, "Oh, I work at the Air Base (or Camp McCain) at night". Meanwhile it is possible that this person uses the night hours to commit depredations in the homes of the people.

Anyway, it would be easy to check up on strangers who live on your property.

The War Situation

From the Allies' standpoint, the war is not going very well near Salerno, Italy, where veteran German troops withdrawn from the shortened line in Russia, have pushed back the Americans. The Germans hint of another Dunkirk for the American invaders, but there is as yet no substantial reason to expect that.

When "things" were apparently going good as the Allies were pushing the push-overs, the peace-minded Italians, back, we advised our readers not to get too enthusiastic; so now, we advise them not to get pessimistic. A few reverses now and then are great stimuli to bond buying and to other war-related activities.

Evolution

I'm just a little monkey, all full of biting fleas. My home is in the jungle, where I live among the trees. For breakfast I have coconuts, for lunch I drink the milk.

For supper I have herbs and roots and things of such an ilk.

I walk upon my hands and feet and swing from limbs real tall.

And jump with glee from tree to tree and hardly ever fall.

My grandpa was a big black ape, my grandma a baboon. I know not what my child will be, perhaps he'll be a ~~man~~.

The whole thing seems too deep for me, I see no real solution.

Perhaps, it's like our good friend says—it's simply evolution.

IF YOU BELIEVE YOUR ANCESTORS WERE HUMANS—VOTE FOR ME.

"Lists"

When the country negroes need money for the churches, or for other causes, like burning-outs, etc., they circulate a "list" in Grenada.

From the number of "lists" that I have seen and subscribed to, God indeed must have wrought His wrath on colored churches, for there have been more "lists" circulated this year than in any previous five years. Almost every day, somebody shoves a "list" at me. Just a minute ago, a colored woman shoved a "list" and secured a dime. This "list" was written on about one-fourth of a letter head and was written in pencil.

I sometimes believe that some of these "list"ers are fakes, but I dig down and get a dime or a quarter anyway, and most white folks do too.

We can't all fight but we can buy War Bonds with every dollar that we don't absolutely need. Are you doing your share?

The Army is conserving rubber. It is estimated that by 1944 crude rubber requirements per vehicle will be cut 40 per cent as compared to the amount of rubber needed by the vehicle at the outbreak of the war.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for September 19

THE SIN OF MOSES AND AARON

LESSON TEXT—Numbers 20:1-12, 27, 28.
GOLDEN TEXT—Ye are angry, and sin against me. (Ephesians 4:26)

Sin is a serious matter, and even though men in our day may not call it by its real name, it is as much here as it was in the days of Moses—and it is just as awfully sinful as ever.

Sin is universal; it appears not only among the people, but also among their leaders. God's dealing with it is on the basis of "greater privilege, greater responsibility." No leader, especially in God's cause, can expect special consideration of his weakness. He must meet God and answer for his sin.

I. The Unbelief of the People (vv. 1-12)

It is well to bear in mind that the people of Israel who were now at Kadesh-Barnea, on the borderland of Canaan, had been here once before—40 years before. Here they had rebelled against God in unbelief because of the report of the spies concerning the land. Because of their unwillingness to take God at His word, they had been sent to wander 40 years in the wilderness until the complainers had died. Read that graphic and instructive story in Numbers 13 and 14.

Now they were back at Kadesh—and a new generation shows that the spirit of unbelief and distrust has a hold on humanity, and makes men like father.

They had run short of water. The spring which had served their fathers on the previous visit to Kadesh had run dry.

One would have supposed that all the mighty dealings of God in their deliverances over and over again, would have indicated the need of faith; but they had only a wailing criticism of God and His leaders.

II. The Answer—God's Power (vv. 13-15)

Moses and Aaron, now old men but still God's chosen leaders, took their sorrow to Him (v. 6). It was the right place to go, for power becometh unto the Lord (Ps. 82:11).

Instead of punishing the people for their unbelief, God calls upon His servant Moses to show them that He (God) is able. At a word from Moses, the rock would bring forth water before their eyes.

Is not that the perfect answer to all man's questioning and lack of faith—the revelation of the omnipotence of God?

But God's purpose is defeated (at least in a measure) by the

III. Unbelief of the Leaders (vv. 16-17)

Instead of taking their place as the servants and subordinates of God, Moses and Aaron claimed that they would provide water (v. 10). Instead of showing God's power by speaking to the rock, and His mercy in providing for the people, they uttered a rebuke; and then, by smiting the rock, took to themselves the honor that really belonged to God.

When called upon to act for God, they acted for themselves, and in their own name. They used for their own glory the power delegated to them by God. Let us beware that we do not fall into the same error.

Let us also note that if the punishment seems severe, we should recall that they had broken a type of Christ. Christ was the Rock. He was to be smitten at Calvary, that the water of life might flow forth. But He died once for sin (1 Cor. 10:4) and is not to be smitten again. We need now only speak to Him in faith and receive life.

In Exodus 17:8, 9, Moses smote the rock, presenting the first half of the type foreshadowing the work of Christ; now he was to speak to it, fulfilling the type, and in unbelief he destroyed God's picture or type of redemption. It was a grievous sin.

IV. The Answer—Judgment (vv. 12, 13, 27, 28)

Moses and Aaron were not to be permitted to enter the promised land, because of their failure. No doubt it was true that their departure to be with the Lord was in a sense "far better" for them; and yet it cannot be denied that there was disappointment in not seeing the conclusion of their long and arduous labors.

The lesson is clear. We may serve God long and faithfully, but that is not any excuse for "letting down" in our closing years. We dare not presume, as though our intimate touch with God and place of leadership gave us an "inside track," a right to take it easy, spiritually or morally.

Sin is always sin; and it is especially grievous in one who has the privilege of high position and of power with God.

God buried His workmen; but His work went on. For Aaron there was his son Eleazar (v. 28). For Moses there was a Joshua, "full of the spirit of wisdom" (Deut. 34:9). It is always so. None of us is indispensable.

Canadian, U. S. Universities Offer Plan for Prosperity

Two Schools Offer Prescription for Post-War Depression in Pamphlet Entitled 'The Midcontinent and the Peace.'

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

Out of the part of the world farthest from the fighting, literally and figuratively, has come an interesting international prescription for the cure of the world's post-war headache—the spell of depression that we have to be ready for.

The formula is summarized in a 43-page pamphlet that I wish everyone could read. The title is "The Midcontinent and the Peace." The cover is an earthy brown embellished with alternating rows of golden grain sheaves, fat porkers and trucks.

It is a report made jointly by the Universities of Minnesota and Manitoba. It has nothing to do with departments of state, it has no official status beyond the fact that the American and Canadian governors asked their respective state universities to do the job. It is a splendid down-to-brass-tacks example of the recognition of the common interests of two important areas lying on opposite sides of an international boundary line.

The gist of the report is this:

I. Western Europe must arrange greatly to increase its imports of wheat, lard and pork after the war.

II. Canada and the United States must reorganize their automobile-producing industries so that a maximum employment in Canadian factories can be maintained; cost of autos be reduced to Canadian buyers and American car output increased.

III. Agriculture in the prairie provinces of Canada and the central northwest United States must continue along the lines of agricultural specialization developed out of necessity during the war.

The Connection

Now, at first glance, the connection between these steps may not be evident, but the report makes the whole effort clear and also shows how the program can be carried out. There is nothing new or revolutionary in the methods discussed, nor in the reasoning concerning their results, but a striking assemblage of data gathered and arranged in such a manner that it offers what appears to be a logical program of action.

In the first place, the report shows how domestic economic policies (the ones I briefly summarized in the three points above) are, in fact, international policies. It demonstrates with figures and explanation that "sound and strong internal economies in Canada and the United States" must have "resoundingly important effects on the external world."

Examples offered to prove this include the figures which show how the rise and fall of demand in Canada and the United States affected other parts of the world up to and after the depression hit us in 1929.

In less than three decades, imports in the United States of ten different commodities increased from 300 to 1,700 million dollars worth. Take silk: the yearly average importation of silk bought by the United States from 1901-05 amounted to 45 million dollars. In 1929, it had jumped to 432 million dollars. But when the depression struck, it fell to 114 million dollars in 1933.

The total imports of the ten commodities dropped from 1,718 million to 534 million dollars—and you can imagine what happened in the producing countries when these markets disappeared.

One interesting point brought out is that in this period of expanding trade (both import and export) in which Canada and the United States shared, the MUTUAL interests of the two countries greatly INCREASED and their competitive interests declined.

Industry Predominant

The report shows how agriculture has ceased to be our greatest source of wealth, how industry has become pre-eminent and to maintain our agriculture, a healthy condition of industry must be maintained. The old statement is quoted: "Tell me the amount of factory payrolls and I will tell you the price of meat and butter."

The plans for our own agriculture are fairly simple—maintenance of the same type of specialization now going on. The plan for Europe is more complicated but since the question of whether the people of western Europe eat at all for the next few years, depends largely on what Russia, the United States and the other grain producing countries do, these countries may be able to get western European countries to do what we want.

According to the Midcontinent planners, an arrangement should be made whereby western Europe for a period—perhaps 15 years—would absorb our surplus wheat, pork, lard and other farm products. Production of these products would be stopped in western Europe and resources saved would be put to efficient use. The producing countries would assist in reorganizing European agriculture to this changeover. The producing countries would also agree to reduce certain tariffs so that the Europeans can pay for the agricultural products they absorb with goods they can make. (Of course, there is the tough spot.)

As for changeovers in agriculture, it is pointed out that they are not new. Minnesota was once the greatest wheat producing state in the country. That is no longer true. "Mixed farming" has greatly increased. Diversified farming rose in Denmark and improved the standard of her people—these changes come about automatically because the new type introduced pays better. Similar changes, it is implied, could be brought about by us, too.

Unfortunately, space does not permit a detailed review of this report but quite as important as its actual content are the forces which initiated it—in the first place, it brings to our consciousness the mutual interests of this country and our northern neighbor which are plain to any American familiar with Canada and her people but which many in both countries ignore. Again, it shows how groups in two separate countries can get together and work out steps mutually beneficial and likewise advantageous to the whole world. The most important thing of all, however, is the emphasis on the fact that domestic problems are frequently international problems.

Diary of a Broadcaster

Let me tell you of another crazy rumor story that I heard today. It is so old that it has whiskers but people up and down this land are listening and believing it.

A reliable, otherwise hardheaded man told me that an acquaintance of his wife had a friend or relative who had a letter from her boy, a prisoner in Japan. The boy said that he was being well treated and then made a reference to his stamp collection.

He had none, so the remark got the people to thinking—they repeated it "then the FBI or somebody" took the letter, steamed off the stamp, and under it was written—

Well, before the man finished telling it, I said: "I know what was under it—They've cut my tongue out."

How did I guess? Well, I heard that story a dozen times in the last World War.

But to make sure, I made a few inquiries, simply to check the procedure. In the first place, prisoners of war don't use stamps. They can't write direct to their next of kin. The messages all are relayed through the International Red Cross anyhow.

Before we got into the last war, I was sitting on top of a Fifth Avenue bus in New York, reading an article by David Lawrence, which reported how the department of justice had run down a story to the effect that sweaters knitted for the Red Cross were sold to soldiers. The bus stopped—a Liberty Bond orator was making a speech—I listened. He was telling the same story that the department of justice had run down and found it had absolutely NO basis whatever.

Remember this before you repeat these charming fantasies. Enrollment in the WACS, as fine a corps of American women as were ever gathered together, has been slowed down by a cheap and dirty story made out of whole cloth and passed from one drooling lascivious mouth to another.

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes get in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove the waste. If kidneys fail, the waste poisons the system and cause the body to become weak.

Doctors may be saying headache, nervous headache, attacks of dizziness, going up stairs, grinding, puffing under the arms—these are signs of kidney and liver trouble.

Other signs of kidney or bladder trouble are sometimes burning, stinging or too frequent urination.

Shadow Box Cupboard Makes a Dramatic Setting for Treasures

NO MATTER if you move from hither to yon or change from a spacious house to a single room there are certain treasures that will mean home to you. A few books, a piece of china and some perfectly useless but cheering bits of bric-a-brac—by all means take them with you and make a dramatic setting for them.

A shadow box cupboard will do the trick. The one shown here is light and substantial; will lend glamour even to dime store odds and ends, and may be placed on top of a table, a chest of drawers or a desk.

If you do not have a saw to cut the scalloped frame, mark it on plywood and take it to the nearest woodworking shop to have it cut. You may have the straight boards cut at the lumber yard where you buy them. All you will have to do is screw them together; tack on the front frame and paint or stain to suit your room color scheme.

But there is one sure way to get plenty of good and effective inoculating bacteria... just ask for NITRAGEN when you buy. NITRAGEN is the oldest and most widely used legume inoculant. For over forty years, farmers have used it to get heavier yields of legumes and build soil fertility. It costs only a few cents an acre but frequently boosts yields of vetch, winter peas, clover, alfalfa, soy beans and other legumes up to 50% and more. Get NITRAGEN where you buy your seed. ## THROUGH A WOMAN'S EYE

By Mrs. W. W. Whitaker

When the education of our children goes wrong, sooner or later all goes wrong. When the parent neglects teaching moral conduct to their son and daughter, they are inviting trouble for themselves, for their children and for all those who are their associates.

Whenever parents are substituted for by agencies and organizations, trouble results. Parents are the natural guardians of their children, and there's no institution or organization on earth to replace a true conscientious parent.

The youth of today and tomorrow will see new ideals and new systems of management and they will not be forced to embrace either communism, totalitarianism or even the particular type of democracy which we have here in America.

Somebody said, "It is more important to teach character, than to teach facts." We developed along a line of material progress for years, and in many cases failed to satisfy our spiritual hunger—only to end in chaos.

As we live dramatically day by day let's think a little more seriously about good morals and encourage our children to become better people than we have been. With the mighty development of material things, sound moral character leadership is imperative. The weak must be protected from the lawless and virtue must dominate the lives of the people of the earth.

A mighty responsibility to serve humanity rests in the hands of the parents of today for it is their children's opportunities to preserve a just and lasting peace, a peace that must be inspired, held and transmitted by people whose moral fiber is strong and just.

We citizens of Grenada are not the least bit fooled by the young couples who pose as married couples. We are sorry for them, for when ever a man loses his integrity and a woman loses her virtue, life deals out plenty of punishment. It's no use "chillin," we're looking at you.

UDC MEETING

There will be an important meeting of the UDC next Thursday, September 23. ALL members are urged to be present. Do not fail to come to 111 College Blvd. —Reporter.

I still believe the United States should strive to have a GOOD army than to have a BIG army. In my opinion, every man, except those fit for combat duty, should be discharged—and the soldiers remaining should be trained to the limit. The home front is suffering, and the Army is being handicapped by subnormal men and over-age officers.

CARNIVAL, WITH MANY ATTRACTIONS, DRAWS GOOD CROWDS

(Dorothy Whitaker)
Jeeps and cars with A cards brought thousands of civilians and servicemen to the fairgrounds this week to see the gay wonders of the American Exposition Show sponsored by the American Legion.

Little girls and boys enjoyed rides on the gentle, brown Shetland ponies while many of the older little boys were awed in the penny arcade by the antics of Tom Mix. Groups of servicemen turned the handles of the arcade picture boxes fast and furious and laughed at such movies as September Morn, Ivory and Old Lace, and The Night Hostess.

Tawny Indian fortune tellers amazed their clients with forecasts of trips, beautiful mate, fortunes.

Varior's games of skill and chance offered the men an opportunity to show their girls and buddies how good they could pitch and shoot. Most of them won a clay plaque or doll while the radios and cocktail shakers stayed on the shelves.

Girls' A-Poppin' drew an almost exclusively male audience who cheered the voluptuous grace of the six dancers. Several M. P.'s stood by.

Blink, a male mandril baboon, has a colorful red and green nose—and a powerful bite. In fact, he is one of his species in captivity and the only animal which kills lions in the jungle. Joseph and Lil Kitchens who helped capture many of the 26 monkeys they present in an act at the carnival say that Blink is vicious, in fact, he often tears their clothes off if they come too near.

Wimpy is a cute little monkey who walks a rolling barrel and is a high liver.

About six thrilling rides are being well patronized and appreciated. The Ferris wheel draws the more conservative, while the Octopus gets the daring types. The merry-go-round is all the children's favorite.

Oh, and don't forget to have a hot dog and some pink lemonade.

Congratulations to the new Circuit Court Staff—Mr. and Mrs. Charley Worsham.

Oh, me.

Attention, soldiers: you are going to return, if you are fortunate enough to return, to a NEW world, one regimented to the nth degree, one in which you will be under a dictatorial government in Washington. States' rights will be gone. UNLESS, the present regime of New Dealers is dug out root and branch.

"Big Pocketbook vs the People." what a farce!!

Horn says his grandson is the prettiest baby in the world, which will raise an argument with every other grandfather in the world.

"DAD"

Dad never had much to say; Jogged along in his quiet way Contentedly toiling, his work was done As he turned the soil to the golden sheen.

Used to say as he slumped the mare, One horny hand in his tangled hair, "Rest by joy when your work's well done."

So pitch in, son."

Sometimes he an' I'd not bitch; Couldn't agree as to which was which. Fought it out on the same old lines As we grubbed an' hoed 'mong the runnin' vines;

And his eyes would light with a gentle quizz, And he'd say in that old soft way of his,

As he idly stroked his wrinkled chin, "All right, son, you win."

Dad was never no hand to fuss; Used to hurt him to hear us cuss; Kind o' settled in the ood old days When a tattered coat hid a kindly heart.

An' the farm was home, not a tollin' mart, An' a man was juded by him inward self; Not his worldly pelf.

Seems like 'twas yesterday we sat On the old back porch for a friend's chat Ere I chanced the farm and the simple life

For the city's roar an' bustle an' strife, While I gaily talked of the city's charm His eyes looked out o'er the fertile farm

An' he said as he rubbed where the hair was thin, "All right, son, you win."

"Member the night I trudged back home Slinkin' deep in the fresh turned loam; Sick an' sore for the dear old place, Hunerin' most for a loved old face.

When I climbed the hilltop o'er, There stood dad in the kitchen door, An' he says n a voice deep from with-in,

"Hello, son, come in."

One winter's day, the first of snow, He went the way that we all must go; An' his spirit soared to the realms above

On the wings of a simple-hearted love, An' I know that when I cross the bar I'll find him there by the gates ajar, An' he'll say, as he idly strokes his chin,

"Hello, son, come in."
